Dear Friend:

This is an early chatati (mea culpa)!

Recently, it was pointed out to me that I should have let those who attend High Holy Day services sponsored by the Men of Reform Judaism in New York know about the free events and courses offered by the program I direct, QUEST. So, here goes.

First, my friend Professor Amy-Jill Levine will speak at Park Avenue Christian Church (Park and 85th Street) on Monday evening, February 28th and 7:30 p.m. Amy-Jill describes herself as a nice Jewish girl from Boston, who is an expert in the New Testament. She teaches at Vanderbilt University Divinity School. Her topic for the FREE lecture that night will be: "ELIMINATING SEXISM, ANTI-JEWISH THEOLOGY AND HOMOPHOBIA FROM THE BIBLE". Amy-Jill is an outstanding speaker. I promise you will enjoy her very much, and you will learn a lot as well.

By accessing our website www.questcenter.us, you will find a number of other free programs and concerts as well.

We will also be offering six courses about the Bible, Islam, and religious music beginning on February 15. I will be teaching "Unlocking Genesis." There is also an excellent and timely course "Introduction to Islam", taught by my friend Haroon Moghul. You can access these courses, their descriptions and the teachers and register on-line by logging on to www.questcenter.us. You can register there. You will receive a 25% discount.

If you want to reach me, or ask questions, please do not hesitate to e-mail me at lschoolman@parkavenuechristian.com. I will be happy to welcome you personally to any and all of these programs.

Sincerely,

Rabbi Leonard A. Schoolman
